Pickers work while Chamber meeting dies

BY D.C. HARVILL
Supporters of the proposed Stennis Airport site of the new Hancock County High School picketed, while the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce held a special meeting Friday afternoon hoping to get comments from both opponents and proponents of the school site.
The meeting, however, was cancelled because no official supporters of the site were in attendance.
The Chamber had hoped to get a dialogue going between the two sides of the issue, but because no one supporting the school showed up, the meeting was adjourned, according to Chamber President Rick Egan.
School board members Carol Bustetter and Billie Eave Lyons attended the meeting, but not in an official capacity.
All of those picketing in favor of the school site are residents of the southern section of the county.
"The Chamber of Commerce shouldn't have come out against the site. They are partially funded by the county, by the taxpayers money; if they wanted to take a stand they should have held meetings like this to get input but they shouldn't have taken a position as a body," picketer Kenny May said.
"That airport isn't going to grow, not when both Moissant and Gulfport airports are cutting back on flights. They just want the school further north," said Irma May.
"That airport is a dream, but the kids are a reality. We care about our kids as much as anybody but they have traveled enough miles to and from North Central School they could have gone around the world three times," Sherman Necaise said.

The picketers said they see no danger in having the school at the airport site because it will be over a mile from the runway and there is no real industrial activity at the airport.
"That airport isn't going to do anything for the next 20-30 years, they just want more federal funding," Irma May said.
The site supporters are starting an unofficial petition in an attempt to counter a petition being circulated by those in opposition to the site.
Superintendent Terrell Randolph did not attend the meeting but commented Friday afternoon, "I regret that the Chamber took that action because it causes a conflict between the north and south sections of the county."
The picketers said they will not send their children to the new school if it is built any further north than the airport.

SCOUTS IN PARADE—Members of Packs 207 and 630 and Troop 630 were among those participating in Saturday's Centennial parade. Carlos Arnold Sr., left, and Thomas Sones, far right, were among the Scout leaders. Marching bands, groups, floats, maskers, fire engines, bicycles, wagons and decorated vehicles were all part of the parade followed by live entertainment and an old-fashioned Red Beans and Rice dinner. The Waveland Civic Association's annual Fireworks display was a finale of Waveland's Centennial celebrations, which began in February. (Echo staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

Allowing school to use airport water, sewerage will violate grant terms

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has been informed that allowing the proposed new county junior high-high school complex to hook up to Stennis Industrial Airpark utilities would be a violation of Economic Development Administration grant terms.
A letter for the Economic Development Association (EDA), a division of the U.S. Department of Commerce, explained that the supervisors had contacted EDA officials Oct. 4 to clarify whether allowing the proposed school to use the water and sewerage originally constructed for the airport industrial park would be in keeping with the terms of the EDA grant that paid for construction of those utilities.
According to Port and Harbor Executive Director Harold Olsen, whose agency oversees the operation of the county's industrial parks at Stennis and Port Bienville, the amount of the grant was about $697,000.
The EDA answer to the supervisor's question was read aloud by Board President Ronald Cuevas at Friday's meeting.
The letter stated, "The purpose of the Economic Development Administration grant for infrastructure improvements at the Airpark was to provide facilities to encourage the location of commercial or industrial entities who would create private sector job opportunities."
"Use of the water and sewer capacity at the Airpark for a school would appear to violate the terms and conditions of the EDA grant. Accordingly, we suggest that you deny the request of the school board to utilize this water and sewer capacity."
"In the event of a violation of purposes of the EDA grant, it might become necessary that Hancock County repay the EDA grant."
Cuevas, saying that the supervisors have already stated where we stand on the school site, turned the matter over to Olsen.
The supervisors accepted the letter into their records and turned the matter over to Olsen.
He explained that the matter originally involved the board of supervisors because "the county is the grantee although we are the beneficiary."

Murphy students, parents picket for qualified teacher

BY D.C. HARVILL
School children have a reputation for enjoying the break offered by a substitute teacher, but the "holiday" apparently grows old when it lasts for seven weeks.
A group of Charles B. Murphy seventh graders, along with their parents, held a sick-out Thursday and picketed in front of the Hancock County School District headquarters in Stennis International Airpark because they have not had a qualified teacher for the past seven weeks, according to the picketers.
"The children have no grades in the grade books, they've had no book reports, and only one or two tests. I don't know how they are going to grade our kids. We've supplied them with studious children, but they haven't supplied them with a qualified teacher," said Cheryl Bennett, whose daughter is in the class.
"I ask my daughter every day when she comes home if she has any homework and she says, 'How can I have homework, momma, when I don't have a teacher,'" Bennett said.
Bennett said, the parents are worried that the children will be disadvantaged when they move to the eighth grade because they will be behind other seventh graders in the county.
"Our students have been sitting idle in the classroom for seven weeks, what is going to happen if they sit idle all year? We've given them seven weeks to get a qualified teacher in the class. I think that is long enough," she said.
The class began the school year with a qualified teacher, but he had problems getting certified and was removed from the position, according to Assistant School Superintendent James Pair.
"We've always had a problem there. The school is small and self-contained, we can't compartmentalize the classes according to subject so we have to have a teacher in there who is qualified to teach all the subjects. We've called universities and other school districts along the Coast asking for good prospects, but they said they were having the same problem. We want to put the right person in the class," Pair said.
According to Principal Clementine Williams, a certified teacher with a master's degree in education was in the class Friday morning, but could not say whether he would be permanent because he needs to be approved by the school board.

Elizabeth Sullivan dies at residence

Funeral services were held Saturday in New Orleans for Bay St. Louis poet Elizabeth Hillery Sullivan, who died at her Beach Boulevard home on Wednesday, October 12, 1988. She was 86 years of age, a native of New Orleans, and a longtime resident of Bay St. Louis.

She was a well known author and poet. Among her published works are the following books: Singing on the Seawall; Poems of the Gulf South, Louisiana Lullaby; Poems of Old New Orleans; and The Scholar and the Sage.

MRS. ELIZABETH HILLERY SULLIVAN

Mrs. Sullivan was a member of the Mississippi Poetry Society, the National Writers Club, the American Poetry Society, the Retired Officers Association, and the Bay-Waveland Garden Club.

She was a member of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church, Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Sullivan was born in Memphis, Tenn. She was educated in New Orleans and was a graduate of the Academy of the Sacred Heart. She studied writing at Tulane and Loyola Universities and H. Sophie Newcomb College.

In 1984, in The Sea Coast Echo, in a book review of "The Scholar And The Sage," Joe Pilet wrote, "The book reflects the ever-growing spirituality of its author whose zenith many felt had been reached in her poems entitled Singing on the Seawall which came out in 1981."

The beautiful prose-poetry in Scholar and the Sage brings an awareness of some Greater Force using the pen of Elizabeth to reveal peaceful truths—truth to ponder, truth to trust, truth to guide the reader toward higher places of attitude.

The Biloxi Little Theatre once presented readings from Singing on the Seawall, recollections of her childhood summers spent in Biloxi away from the stifling heat of New Orleans.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Col. Edmund C. Sullivan. When her husband died in 1973, she traveled to South America, Europe, Canada, and Asia, jotting down her impressions for poems to be written upon her return to her Bay St. Louis residence.

She is survived by one son, Dr. Edmund H. Sullivan M.D., of Baton Rouge; two daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth S. Holleman of Bay St. Louis and Marie-Louise

A. Kavanagh of Baton Rouge, eight grand-children and four great-grand-children.

Funeral services and visiting were held on Saturday at The House of Bultman, St. Charles Avenue, New Orleans with burial in the Metairie Cemetery.

Kasper declares candidacy for District Three Supervisor

James J. "Jim" Kasper, 60, of Diamondhead has announced his candidacy for Supervisor in Hancock County Beat 3.

Kasper and his wife, Marge

retired to Diamondhead in December 1986, previously residing in Wisconsin. Prior to moving to Hancock County, Kasper was manager of transportation for a NYSE company that operates major manufacturing facilities in Jackson and Canton. Kasper is currently chairman of WFBI, a trucking and freight brokerage company with operations in Wisconsin. He also has served as a vice president of the Southeast Shippers Association of Memphis, Tenn.

Kasper holds or had held membership in the American Trucking Association, National Industrial Traffic League where he served as the chairman of the Highway Committee; National Council of Physical Distribution Management; American Society of Traffic and Transportation; and the Transportation Brokers Conference of America where he holds the honor of 'Certified Transportation Broker'.

He attended the University of Minnesota from 1947 to 1950, was called to active duty in July of 1950 and served as a first lieutenant in the Army Transportation Corps. After being returned to inactive duty he was graduated from Humboldt College with a degree in transportation. He has also studied interstate commerce law at the College of Advanced Traffic.

Kasper lists as his hobbies playing golf with the Diamondhead Men's Golf Association and working as a volunteer for the Republican Party. The Kaspers were invited by President Reagan to attend the 1985 Inauguration in Washington, D.C. This past summer he contributed more than 150 hours of volunteer work at the Republican National Convention.

Kasper is for the unit system and a countywide public works department. He believes that county supervisors should function as a board of directors and have no operational duties.

The candidate knows that improving economic conditions helps reduce crime and social problems. He advocates the financial support for local entrepreneurs as one important means of industrial growth. While working in industry, Kasper made many plant location studies employing the ton-inch method and understands the economic factors in plant location decisions. He would ask the many retired executives and managers residing in the county to form a task force and share their expertise when called upon.

Kasper said, "For the past 30 years I have been a supporter of citizen participation in the governance process. That's right after I realized how much tax I was paying. During those years I have lived in nine small cities located in five different states. All had the unit system of county government and paid close attention to its operation. This background and experience will enable me to make the important decisions that the board of supervisors will be facing during the coming years."

"Hancock County is my adopted home. I wish to do things right for all the voters who elect me as their supervisor. All policies, this is, guidelines, priorities and courses of action, will be made with the taxpayer in mind. That's why I'm a candidate," Kasper concluded.

Hancock County Fire Marshal Jay Marsh, left, accepts a check from Hancock Women's Club President Lois Crippie. The donation from the club will be used to help purchase a cascade system, a device for refilling firefighter's airpaks. Anyone wishing to make a donation should contact Marsh or one of the local fire departments. (Echo staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Additional signs posted for speed change warning

Mississippi State Highway Department Director John R. Tabb said that Highway Department maintenance crews are erecting additional median signs to warn motorists of upcoming speed changes on interstates where speeds slow from 65 mph to 55 mph.

The new signs, which read 'Reduced Speed Ahead' and 'Speed Limit 55' are to be placed on the median across from existing speed limit signs. In addition, two 24-inch square red flags are to be attached to the new signs as well as the existing signs.

According to Tabb, these improvements will occur at eight sites across the state where the 65 mph Interstate Highway speed limit slows to 55 mph.

Tabb said interstate speed limits change from 65 mph to 55 mph in urban areas due to federal law. He said it is very important that motorists comply with the 55 mph speed limit since non-compliance could result in a loss of $4.1 million in federal highway money. Tabb encourages all drivers to be alert while traveling and to obey all traffic signs.

Alternative school meeting set

A meeting of the newly formed Hancock County Alternative Schooling Foundation will be 10 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 19 in the board room at Bay Senior High School.

The foundation consists of private citizens, local officials and businesses attempting to form an alternative school for students who drop out of the normal education system.

The open meeting is being held to get public input on the proposed school, according to foundation spokesman Robert Seaton.

By Dena Bisnette

The Japanese may have cornered the market on technology, but Americans are definitely ahead when it comes to packaging.

In every case when the product I bought or was given was made in Japan and left in its original packaging, I had no trouble actually getting to the goods. If it was repackaged in an American box, opening it was like solving a Rubik's Cube. It could take all day.

I realize that some items, like food and medicine, must be packaged the way they are for safety reasons. Still, it's frustrating.

Imagine yourself with a headache and see how frustrating it can be to try to open a child-proof bottle. I know that pharmacists will give you a snap-on or screw-on cap for prescriptions, but with over-the-counter remedies you have to take what you can get.

First you go through the box, which usually has to be dismantled or cut open. Then there is the bottle cap, then there is the foil wrapping that usually won't peel off and has to be pierced with scissors or some other sharp tool (A metal rat-tail comb is my favorite weapon against these things), and then there's the cotton I don't even want to discuss.

Imagine yourself with a bigger headache when you can't get the bottle opened.

I don't have any children in my household, which is a shame when I'm fighting a child-proof cap because children are really the only people who can get those things off the bottles.

Last time I was in that situation help walked into the bathroom in the form of my little dog Corky. I gave the bottle to him and he bit the cap off in two seconds. He didn't want much pay, either; he wanted the cap to play with and was perfectly happy to leave the bottle and the contents to me.

I don't cook; my husband Joe does. Sometimes I think it's because food packages are too hard for my smaller hands to open.

The jars that have lids so wide that they must have been designed for a pro basketball player are bad enough. Boxes and bags are even worse. A person has to have his entire tool box at his disposal to get into a box that says "Push in at perforation" because there's a line printed where perforation should be and isn't.

When I do get it open, I pour the contents into another container because I've mutilated the box to the point that it will never close again.

Bags always rip open in just the right way to spill half the contents, but I can get around that by spreading a clean piece of waxed paper under the bag before I open it at home. Snack machine bags are another story; if they contain cheese puffs, your skirt ends up orange.

When Joe isn't looking, I'm tempted to do the waxed paper thing and let Corky open the food bags. Joe would never know the difference.

By the way, whatever happened to can openers with hand-crankers on them? Today's are electric, and there's a 50-50 chance that a person eating from a can is a person in the middle of a power failure.

You could have another type of "power failure" if you can't get the can opened and the fast-food joint down the street is already closed.

Packages for inedible goods, other than those in bottles or jars, are also amazing. Did you ever try to open a package of typing paper without using your teeth. In the old days, the paper was wrapped and taped.

and he is loose on the streets. The case never came to the Office of the District Attorney before the case was disposed of. Court records indicate that these individuals were represented by my principal accusers.

On Jan. 4, 1988, there were approximately 1,400 cases pending Court action and 748 cases waiting Grand Jury presentation logged into the Office of the District Attorney, obviously having occurred during the previous administration. This did not include the many unofficial complaints presented by citizens of the District such as gambling, prostitution, political corruption and narcotic violations.

The staff in the Office of the District Attorney has worked hard under severe handicaps, but I am proud to tell the world that 1,251 cases have been presented to the Grand Jury, some cases dating back to 1985, and action has been taken. Stale cases are difficult, memories dim, investigative staffs change personnel and the victims sometime are so weary of the lack of follow-through that they lose heart and think that the justice system has failed them. We have responded. Investigations are underway and the juries, both petit (trial) and grand, are systematically going through these cases and complaints.

Justice will prevail and all the hard work of the law enforcement agencies, clerks, lawyers and courts will be rewarded as the innocent are freed, the guilty punished and the victims see that their loss has been in great measure vindicated...the yells will continue so long as the criminal element and its vocal supporters are "gored" by the long arm of the law. My commitment to the citizens of Hancock, Harrison and Stone counties remains solid...I will use my energies to fret out the facts and prosecute the criminal element. There will be yells aplenty!

He also explained that the port and harbor commission is not able to repay the grant and would therefore have to turn down the school board's request to use the water and sewerage due to "economic necessity."

"After all, the EDA's purpose in funding this project was to create jobs."

Olsen said he does not expect the commission itself to take any action about the matter, as he has been directed by the supervisors to draw up the letter to the school board.

According to the port and harbor director, CorTech Engineering, the commission's engineering firm, has estimated that the school would use 75 percent of the current capacity of the water and sewerage systems.

In addition, three new industries have recently located at the airport industrial park and their buildings are being put on both systems. Olsen added that one of the three plans an expansion within 18 months.

Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph said the school board had received a commitment several months ago from the Port and Harbor Commission regarding the utilities, but has two alternatives to using the industrial park systems.

"We also have the availability of another system," he explained.

The sewerage system the school can use is privately owned and will be constructed to serve the area from the school site north to Kiln, but the owner is waiting for a commitment from the school district.

If that alternative is not available, the school can use its own sewage treatment plant, Randolph said. All three existing schools in the district presently have their own plants.

Water would come from the Kiln Fire and Water Protection District's system, which can be expanded southward to the school.

Randolph said going with the private developer will actually cost the school district less because there will be no upfront costs.

"We would have preferred to use the Port and Harbor's system, but they were asking us to put up $85,000 in an escrow account for future development," the superintendent explained.

He added that the school district had also been approached by Entex, which is interested in supplying natural gas to both the school and the industrial park. The cost of the additional lines would be prohibitive with only one of the two sites, but Entex would be able to serve both facilities, Randolph said.

The superintendent said he would like to confirm the information with the Economic Development Administration before his board makes a formal request to the private developer building the sewerage system.

Now the plastic is fused together.

Maybe American goods are disposable, but the packaging is apparently meant to permanently preserve them. A whole team of NASA scientists has to be called in if you're trying to unwrap something that can't get wet, like maybe a typewriter, a television or maybe even a camera.

Why do you manufacturers want to keep me out of something I've bought and paid for? I could understand it if I'd bought the stuff on credit and you wanted to wait for the balance to be paid off, but I'm a little insulted when I've paid cash and can't get the box open.

Corky, I can't feed you unless you can get the dog food bag open.

STRUGGLING FOR THE BALL—Hancock North Central's Ronald Doyle struggles to hold onto the football Friday after being brought to the ground by Long Beach Bearcats.

Hawks rip past Bearcats

BY DENA BISNETTE

It was one of those games where everybody got a chance to play as the Hancock North Central Hawks blazed past the homecoming Long Beach Bearcats Friday to a 55-13 victory.

"We played real well. We played everybody we had, and I mean everybody," Hancock North Central Head Coach Irvin Favre said after the game.

"That's good because we have a rough game next week against George County. It's going to be an extremely tough one and it's one we've just got to win because it's a big district game."

Hancock's only apparent weakness was in its first-half defense, when the Hawks allowed Long Beach to score two touchdowns. Favre said a few adjustments improved the second half defense and succeeded in shutting down all of the Bearcats' drives.

Hancock started the game on defense and Long Beach broke through on the third play when Billy Fain picked up six points and long yardage on a running play. A PAT attempt failed, leaving Long Beach with a 6-0 lead with little more than a minute played.

The Hawks stretched their talons for a rally on the next series, setting up a touchdown drive with a long run. Ronald Doyle took the ball on a second down and dashed 37 yards for the six points.

Hancock untied the score with a PAT kick by Terrence Goff, taking a 7-6 lead with 10:22 left in the first quarter.

Jeff Moran popped through the middle of the Long Beach line on a keeper play for the Hawks' second touchdown and one yard, upping the score to 13-6 with 6:43 left in the quarter. The PAT attempt was not successful.

Doyle scored the next one on a 25-yard pass from Moran, then Casey Davis passed to Jeff Favre for a two-point conversion, increasing Hancock's lead to 21-6 late in the first quarter.

In second quarter action, Goff picked up another 15 yards and shifted into kicking position to post 28-6 on the scoreboard with 10:34 left in the half.

Long Beach went aerial on the next series to try to close up the gap in points, scoring on a pass from Jason Sharp to Fain.

An attempt for the PAT failed and the Bearcats were left with their final score, 13 points, with 5:32 minutes to halftime.

Jeff Moran

Hancock racked up the points again on a long run up the left side by Goff, who followed up his run with a PAT kick.

With the score at 35-13 and only two seconds left on the clock, Doyle snatched a Long Beach pass out of the air for a 99-yard touchdown run. Goff kicked a PAT and the halftime festivities began with Hancock showing a 42-13 lead on the scoreboard.

The third quarter was scoreless, but the Hawks widened their margin over the Bearcats even more in the fourth.

On a second down play with inches to go, Moran repeated an earlier Hawk move by barreling through the middle of the Bearcat defensive line for six more points. The kick missed and the Hawks led 48-13.

With 5:58 left on the clock, Heath Necaise leaped up to grab a Long Beach pass, running it in for 75 yards and a touchdown. The PAT was good and the final score stood at 55-13.

Next week, the Hawks host George County.

Rocks drop close one 26-20 to Riverdale

Momentum.
It's one of the most elusive forces in all of athletic competition to control. It will propel some teams onto victory while leaving others on the brink of frustration.

In the first 22 minutes of the first half of St. Stanislaus' homecoming game with Riverdale Friday night, the Rockchaws completely dominated every phase of the game in mounting an impressive 17-0 lead over the Rebels.

A cheering crowd of SSC fans and alumni thought at this point the contest was well on its way to being a blowout.

The Rockchaw offensive line was opening wide holes while driving Riverdale's defense off the ball, and SSC's passing attack was in high gear.

On defense, the Rocks harassed Rebel QB Ricky Powell, forcing him to scramble almost every time he set up to pass.

Then the momentum changed.

After an incomplete pass and a penalty stalled a Rockchaw offensive drive, Craig Sweeney's punt was downed by the Rocks on the Riverdale 25-yard line, and SSC's defense prepared to dig in and hold the Rebels once more.

Rebel QB Powell threw a slant-in pass to split end Ramon Phillips who advanced the ball to the SSC 48-yard line, giving the Rebels one of their few first downs of the half.

On the next play, Powell hit Phillips deep behind SSC's pass coverage for a touchdown strike. The two-point try was no good and SSC enjoyed a 17-6 lead with 1:57 left in the half.

Galen Smith returned the Rebel kickoff to the SSC 26-yard line, but two plays later Rebel cornerback Keith Robinson intercepted a Cedric Smith pass and returned it to the SSC 35-yard line.

QB Powell immediately went back in the air to Phillips on a crossing pattern, bringing the ball down to the SSC 15-yard line.

With :37 left in the half, Powell found Phillips open once again and the speedy receiver scored his second touchdown to bring the Rebels closer, 17-12.

In less than two minutes the Rebels had put two touchdowns on the scoreboard, and went in at halftime with renewed confidence that they could stay with St. Stanislaus during the second half.

The Rockchaws had scored in the first quarter on a 23-yard Cedric Smith pass to Scott Heitzmann and early in the second quarter on a 22-yard Heitzmann field goal to lead 10-0. Hard running by Gino Ascani gave the Rocks their second touchdown on a 2-yard blast and a comfortable 17-0 advantage.

But at halftime the lead had diminished to 17-12.

In the second half, the lead changed hands several times as both squads played tough, aggressive football.

Ascani continued to chew up yardage in the third quarter as he swept the right side for a 21-yard gain. Facing a third and one, QB Smith picked up the first on a quarterback sneak.

The drive stalled at this point, and Heitzmann attempted a 38-yard field goal which was blocked by Riverdale and recovered on their 25-yard line.

Riverdale got its running game in gear quickly. On second down Rebel running back Keith Brown raced 75 yards around right end for the go-ahead touchdown with 6:57 left in the third quarter.

The two-point conversion was again no good, and Riverdale led 18-17.

A nice kickoff return by Ascani brought the ball to the SSC 42-yard line. Ascani was the workhorse during this drive as he touched the ball on five of the next seven plays.

A screen pass, an end run, and a third-down blast up the middle gave the Rocks a first down at the Riverdale 11 yard line.

The Rocks managed to advance the ball to the five yard line on a pass to Heitzmann, but were driven back several yards and had to settle for a 29-yard field goal by Heitzmann with 2:26 left in the third quarter.

At the end of the third quarter, the Rocks led 20-18.

When SSC's defense stiffened and forced Riverdale to punt, the Rocks began their next offensive drive at their 36 yard line.

Coach Ken Lyons relied heavily on the solid running of Ascani, moving the ball into Rebel territory.

Riverdale got their big break when a Smith pass intended for Shannon Garrett was intercepted by the Rebels at their 39-yard line.

Rebel split end Ramon Phillips, a one-man wrecking crew, carried on a reverse into Rockchaw territory. The next play it was Phillips again on the receiving end of a Powell pass who brought the ball down to the SSC 8-yard line.

Riverdale scored on an inside counter trap with 8:30 left in the game. On a QB sneak, Powell's two-point conversion was good and Riverdale had the lead 26-20.

Garrett returned the kickoff to the SSC 37-yard line.

Ascani became the Rockchaw offense as he carried six consecutive times, bringing the ball into Rebel territory.

Facing a fourth and two, Smith threw to Heitzmann, but Rebel cornerback Robinson had his second interception at the Riverdale 11-yard line with 2:35 left.

The Rockchaw defense did not allow the Rebels to gain a first down, and forced Riverdale to punt with :56 seconds to go in the game.

Riverdale's punt was downed on the SSC 26-yard line, and with :38 seconds Smith found Garrett over the middle for a 13 yard gain.

SSC came back with a screen pass to Ascani, who was driven out of bounds at the Riverdale 41-yard line with :10 seconds left.

Smith then found Garrett open at the Riverdale 27 yard line, and called time out with :03 left.

On the last play of the contest, Smith lofted a pass into the corner of the endzone to Heitzmann, who had beaten double coverage.

Heitzmann managed to get one hand on the ball, but the pass fell incomplete over his outstretched hands ending the game.

The loss dropped the Rockchaws to 2-4 for the season, with tough losses in their last three outings.

Next week the Rocks travel to Hurley to face East Central, who fell to Vancleave 31-16 Friday.

Gino Ascani, above, evades a Riverdale defender during Friday's St. Stanislaus game. At right, Shannon Garrett reaches to the heavens in an attempt to catch a pass.

Bay-Waveland Garden Club marks 50 years

BY JANET MCQUEEN
Members of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club celebrated "50 Years Young" with an afternoon reception in the Garden Center on Thursday, Oct. 13.

Approximately 100 members, former members and guests took advantage of the beautiful sunny day to commemorate the accomplishments of the club and its contribution to the community.

Two charter members reside in Bay St. Louis, Jo DeBeaver, and Margaret Otis. Mrs. Otis was honored by the group for remaining an active member since Sept. 27, 1938. Former president and 50th anniversary celebration chairman Lynette Nybo presented Mrs. Otis with a framed certificate proclaiming her a lifetime active member and praised her as a source of continued inspiration to the club. She served as president from 1954-56, and was commended for her graciousness and devotion to the group.

Also credited for their lasting contributions were Dot Russell and the late Edwina Mogabgab. Mrs. Russell was longtime Civic Development Chairman and Mrs. Mogabgab served as president. Both were noted as accredited flower show judges.

Hancock County Library Board of Trustees chairman Betty Claggett of Diamondhead presented BWGC president Aggie Tompkins with a plaque in appreciation of the club's endeavors in the landscaping and continued maintenance of the library grounds.

Formed in 1938 with the purpose of "improving and beautifying the city", the club now boasts 73 members and has adopted 33 projects for the 1988-89 year.

New projects include contributions to a Fitness Trail at Hancock Medical Center; landscaping the Valena C. Jones Senior Citizens Center; preparations for the anniversary celebration; planting of trees in honor of past presidents; staging a Spring Flower Show in March; and the recitation of horticulture tips at monthly meetings.

Continuing projects include the collection of food for donation to the community Food Pantry; beautification of Bay St. Louis City Hall and Tax Assessor's office grounds; providing floral arrangements monthly and maintaining memorial gardens at public libraries; sponsoring a Christmas decorating contest; awarding Gardens of the Month and Commercial Beautification Awards; and expanding the Arboretum at the library.

Providing hostesses for the annual Pilgrimage; hosting birding and horticulture workshops; registering historically significant oak trees; planning a club cookbook; staging an annual tree planting on Arbor Day and viewing of presentations of visits to foreign gardens.

Mrs. John Holmes is sponsor of High School Gardeners, a project organized by Emily deMontluzin in 1964.

Efforts of the club have been repeatedly recognized by the Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs over the years, evidenced by various plaques, certificates and ribbons decorating the Garden Center's walls.

Mrs. Nybo extended thanks to the residents of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, club members and their husbands for their support over the years. "Without their assistance, we could not have accomplished the many projects we have undertaken over the years," she said. A Flower Show entitled "50 Years Young" was staged in conjunction with the reception. Winners are announced on a following page.

ORGANIZATION OF BAY-WAVELAND GARDEN CLUB OF CIVIC INTEREST

The Bay Waveland Garden Club held its first regular meeting at the Hotel Reed, Tuesday night, October 18th, at 8 P. M.

This newly organized group is sponsored by the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club, and has been formed as a civic organization to help in improving and beautifying the city.

Membership is open to any one who is interested in gardening and flowers. It is hoped men, as well as women, will interest themselves in the newly formed club.

Mrs. D. G. Rufferty of Pass Christian, chairman of the Coast Council of Garden Clubs was the principal speaker Tuesday night. Her subject was "Organization." She also touched on conservation and spoke of the Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs. This council is acting as a unit in making the coast a beauty spot of the country.

Mr. Grady Perkins, City Commissioner and Mr. Rene de Montluzin, president of the Rotary Club, addressed the club. Both speakers expressed their approval of the club and offered their support to the organization.

SCRAPBOOKS DISPLAYED—Bay Waveland Garden Club Historian Meg Hilliker logged many hours of work compiling a historical review of the club's activities. Scrapbooks detailing projects and vintage photos of members were displayed. (Echo staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

WEDDINGS, ENGAGEMENTS

Van Dyke-Boyce

First Presbyterian Church of Evanston, Ill. was the setting for the September 24 marriage of Margaret Elaine Boyce and Stuart Craig Van Dyke II. The Reverend Harold Blake Walker officiated at the afternoon ceremony.

The softly gathered skirt and train was of tissue silk taffeta. A wreath of delicate porcelain flowers held a short veil of imported silk illusion.

Elizabeth Boyce of Bay St. Louis, sister of the bride, was maid of honor puffed sleeves. The V-back was accented with a large bustle bow.

Keith Van Dyke of Glen Ellyn, Ill., brother of the groom, was best man.

Serving as groomsmen and ushers were Keith Bruch, Bob Cull and Tim Phillips, all of Evanston, Ill.; Mark Keller of Grapevine, Tex.; Jim Nielsen of Naperville, Ill.; and P. J. Schwabe of Glen Dale Heights, Ill., cousin of the groom.

Dougy Schwabe of Glen Dale Heights, Ill., cousin of the groom, was ring bearer.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home and garden of the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Walter C. Burket. She is the granddaughter of the late Dr. Walter Cleveland Burket.

Entertainment was provided by Walter Chamberlain of Bay St. Louis and his jazz ensemble. On return from a wedding trip to Hawaii, the couple will reside in Naperville, Ill.

The bride is a graduate of Northwestern University, where she majored in French literature. She attended the University of Mississippi, and she was named to the National Dean's List. She is a provisional member of Junior League.

The groom is an engineering graduate of Northwestern University. He is employed as a project engineer. At NU he was a varsity member of the track and cross country teams. In high school, he was Illinois State Cross Country Champion.

MRS. STUART CRAIG VAN DYKE II

The bride is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James Boyce of Bay St. Louis. The groom's parents are Mrs. Blomquist Van Dyke and Mr. Stuart Van Dyke of Downers Grove, Ill.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of ivory silk taffeta and reembroidered Alencon lace. The bodice was fashioned of the French lace enhanced with pearls and iridescent paillettes and featured a sweetheart neckline, tiny puffed sleeves and an asymmetrical waistline.

Bridesmaids were Andrea Bisconti of Youngstown, Ohio; Elaine Madansky of Chicago, Ill.; Amy Noonan of Washington, D. C.; Anne Pfeil of Austin, Tex.; and Kelly Van Dyke of Lombard, Ill., sister of the groom.

Miss Jeannette Schwabe of Glen Dale Heights, Ill., cousin of the groom, was flower girl. The attendants were attired in tea length gowns of light blue iridescent taffeta, each with open neckline framed with

The couple will exchange vows January 7 in a 2 p.m. ceremony at St. John Catholic Church.

Junior Auxiliary, Hancock Medical sponsor clinic

When it comes to babysitters, the old cliché still holds: it's hard to find good help these days. But with the proper education a not-so-hot sitter can become a super-sitter—practically overnight.

The Bay St. Louis Junior Auxiliary and Hancock Medical Center will sponsor 'The Super Sitter: A Babysitting Clinic for Teenagers' on Saturday, Oct. 29 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Hancock Medical Center in Bay St. Louis.

During the free workshop, babysitters will learn what to do in case of emergency, ways to entertain children and the duties of the babysitter. Participants will receive a Certificate of Achievement and a brown bag lunch will be served.

For reservations, call Hancock Medical Center at 467-9081, ext. 2200, by Oct. 26. For more information on the workshop, call Renee Boxx at 467-4432.

WHITE HOUSE PERFORMANCE—At the request of President and Mrs. Ronald Reagan, New Orleans musical ambassador and Bay St. Louis businessman and most famous part-time resident Pete Fountain performed at The White House on Thursday, Oct. 6 in honor of His Excellency The President of the Republic of Mali and Mrs. Traore. Fountain was accompanied by his full band and performed

This marked his fourth command performance at the White House having also performed for President Dwight Eisenhower and President Richard Nixon.

Sophistication of the world has changed so much in the last 50 years that the way we now plan modern warfare is completely different. General Harvey cited recent military exercises which determined the quickness and efficiency of transporting U.S. troops to Europe in case of need.

Commercial airlines as well as military planes were used, and troops were delivered to strategic points, and arms and material arrived in good time, thus proving to the communists and ourselves that the United States is a strong force to be reckoned with in Europe. The presence of NATO in Europe has given that continent the longest period of peace since pre-Napoleonic times.

General Harvey concluded by saying that our military is indeed in good shape, the morale of military personnel is high, and we should be very proud of the young men and women in the service of our country. They are working hard to make the United States remain the best place in the world to live.

Reflections

Spread your tender loving care

By Fr. Jerome LeDoux, SVD

It was a cold, jolting deja vu. Two years ago, I had seen my mother's twin brother, whose namesake I am, lie almost comatose from dehydration; in short, from not receiving enough liquids in the rest home where he was fighting to live out his final days.

Now here was his twin lying even more comatose in appearance, without movement of eyes or mouth. Talking directly and loudly into her ear evoked a slight twitch, but no awakening.

For the first time, I realized fully how completely helpless, how totally dependent my mother is on the goodwill of the nurses and aides who are paid to care for her. Due to the inroads of Alzheimer's disease, not even her speech was her ally.

After long minutes of frustration and anxiety, we decided to try to feed her some orange juice through a syringe. Slowly, she began to suck the precious nutrients, until she started to consume the juice thirstily. The change in her was dramatic, unbelievable.

Within 10 to 15 minutes, her eyes were blinking, her twisted mouth was normal and supple, her taut face had relaxed, and she had become aware of people and things around her. It was as if we had dealt with two very different people within 30 minutes.

It was painfully evident that mother's energy level was down to almost nil, due to dehydration and lack of nutrients. Why her nurse, why the aides with their professional training did not pick this up, is a questionable commentary on our human nature.

To make matters worse, while we were flitting about somewhat frantically, trying to get water and liquid nutrients into mother's body, we spied four aides standing around talking in the lobby. It was all too obvious that their main concern was putting in time.

The six of us kept looking at my mother, then at one another, shaking our heads in wonder and hurt over the insensitivity and unconcern displayed by those who were being paid to care for the elderly and the disabled in that rest home.

My mother was at least receiving visitors who could hold the rest home personnel's feet to the fire. What about all the aging unfortunates who either have no relatives or whose dear ones' seldom, if ever, bother to visit them?

Of course, that painful little episode in the rest home taught us precious little about human nature which we did not know already. It is self-evident, for example, that few people deliver tender loving care then they are paid to do it.

If we are not very cautious and constantly alert, it actually goes further downhill from there. Professional payment aside, those who enter the holy covenant of marriage, pledging themselves to each other in tender loving care, rarely deliver the goods.

For the most part, neither money nor covenant have proven equal to the task of motivating people to give fellow humans tender loving care; that is, their attention, time, energy and affection.

This is more readily understandable where pay is involved, since money cannot buy anything of spiritual value. But it baffles the mind to see it happen within the dynamic arena of marriage where love with all its marvelous facets is the main focus.

In any case, whether for pay or for romantic love, tender loving care is a necessary bent, focus and practice for every Christian. Spread your TLC shamelessly, tirelessly, relentlessly.

For us, just as for Jesus, there are no parameters at all. We should be ashamed of not sharing our TLC on our job, in our marriage, as well as in any circumstances whatever of our life.

Sacred Heart Church hosts 'Day of Prayer'

Sacred Heart Catholic Church of Dedeaux is sponsoring a 'Day of Prayer' to be held on the grounds on Thursday, Oct. 20.

The day will begin at 9 a.m. with coffee and donuts. Lunch-break is at noon, followed by the rosary, and a closing liturgy begins at 1:30 p.m.

"Bring a bag lunch and a friend. Guest speaker Sister Rosalie Ambler, comes again to us from the Cenacle Retreat House in Metairie," said Margaret A. Inabinet, Renew publicity chairman.

ON ETV

MISSISSIPPI ROADS

Jackson, Meridian and Columbus are in the spotlight as 'Mississippi Roads,' Mississippi ETV's weekly travelogue series, begins its sixth season Tuesday, Oct. 18, at 7:30 p.m.

Hal and Mal's Restaurant, located in Jackson's historic warehouse district, is the home of a collective of working artists. Artists Sandy McNeal, Carole Pigott and Dick Kelso and playwright John Maxwell all occupy studios in the loft above the restaurant, and they discuss the impact this creative environment has had on their artistic styles. Restaurant owner Malcolm White explains how the studios were started, and retired art columnist O. C. McDavid examines the evolution of the artists' work since coming to the studios. Jane Crater Hiatt, executive director of the Arts Alliance of Jackson, discusses the effect this collective of artists has had on the cultural community in Jackson.

'Roads' then journeys to historic Dunn's Falls, located near Meridian, which is the site of a grist mill that dates back nearly 150 years. Viewers visit with former mill operator Jim Carnes of Meridian, who explains how the old mill worked. Construction expert Ralph E. Young and engineer Brad Carter, both of Meridian, discuss their recent restoration of the mill, and current mill manager Ricky Rozzell of Enterprise tells how the landmark is being maintained.

The final stop of the evening takes viewers to Mississippi University for Women in Columbus for a look at some of the traditions at the 104-year-old institution. Beulah Culbertson, a retired librarian and at age 102 the oldest living alumna of the 'W,' discusses the impact the school has had on her life. College historians Steve and Bridget Pieschel, English professors at MUW, examine some of the history of the college. Finally, mother and daughter alumnae Jo Anne Reid and Jan Reid of Ackerman talk about their shared experience of being 'W' graduates and how the school has changed over the years.
